Annual H. C. Rally

Alumni Hall will be the center of activity the weekend of the Holy Cross game starting with the annual rally on Friday evening, November 30.

Coach Mike Holovak and his assistants will head the list of guests on the speakers program.

Providing for a maximum attendance a public address system will be set up in the lounge and the Barber Shop.

In recent years the Alumni rally has been combined with the student rally and held in Boston. Because of limited facilities at Alumni Hall the rally there is for Alumni only. The student rally will be held on Alumni Field.

Alumni are advised to park their cars in the area behind Alumni Hall at the Reservoir.

Edward J. O'Brien, '35, Quincy, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

President's Reception

A large Alumni group enthusiastically listened to the address of Very Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S. J., new president of the College, at the reception to him by the Alumni Association at the Copley Plaza, Boston, on November 12 (the speech is on Page 6.)

Father Maxwell announced that he was planning to erect a building for the Law School at the Heights as well as dormitories. He also announced that the College authorities had no intention of abandoning football.

Dignitaries honoring Father Maxwell were Most Reverend Eric F. MacKenzie, '14, Auxiliary Bishop of Boston; Very Reverend John A. O'Brien, S. J., President of Holy Cross; Honorable Maurice J. Tobin, Secretary of Labor, and Honorable Theodore R. Lockwood, Mayor of Newton.

Also at the head table was the new dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Rev. Francis O. Corcoran, S.J., '26, and Rev. Francis V. Sullivan, S.J., '21.

Walter J. Waldron, '27, represented the Alumni Association. The chairman of the function was John E. Hurley, '30. Charles W. O'Brien, '33, was toastmaster.

School of Education

A four year coeducational School of Education will open on the campus in September, 1952, Father Maxwell announced this month. Rev. Charles F. Donovan, S.J., has been appointed dean.

Father Maxwell stated that the decision to establish the new school was occasioned particularly by the pressing need for elementary school teachers. "I am hopeful," he said, "that qualified young men as well as young women will pursue the elementary teacher course, at least for the upper elementary grades, for I believe that male teachers add balance and breadth to the child's experience, even at the lower levels." For the first time in the history of the College undergraduate courses will be co-ed since at present only

CHESSE CLUB

Alumni interested in the formation of a chess club please get in touch with the Alumni office.

If enough Alumni respond, arrangements will be made for players to gather weekly through the winter at Alumni Hall.

The following editorial appeared in the New York Times on the occasion of General Hugh A. Drum's death in October. General Drum attended B. C. in the late nineties. In 1923 he received an honorary degree from the College.

A CITIZEN SOLDIER

New York City lost yesterday, with the death of Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, a citizen-soldier whose warm personality and keen common sense had made him, in the finest meaning of the phrase, a civic leader. After his retirement from command of the First Army General Drum fitted well into the life of the community. As head of the Empire State Building he had widened an already extensive friendship and he was an active figure in civic and church affairs. His friendliness, interest and warmth were coupled with an active and capable intellect and, even until the end, an unfailing energy.

Hugh Drum was a professional soldier in the finest sense of the term; he had been Deputy Chief of Staff to Gen. Douglas MacArthur when the latter was Chief of Staff of the Army, and his name was among those considered by President Roosevelt for Chief of Staff. Later, during the war, General Drum was almost appointed to the onerous and difficult position in China occupied by the late Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell. It is now interesting to speculate how history might have been changed had he received this appointment.

General Drum's most distinguished active military service was in the First World War, but perhaps his greatest contribution was in the difficult period just prior to the Second World War, when his leadership and energy had much to do with the training and shaping of the new American Army. Later, during wartime as commander of the First Army, he was entrusted with the task of mobilizing New York and preparing the northeastern area for the greatest war in our history. Upon his retirement in 1943 he commanded the New York Guard, and planned the post war reorganization of the State's National Guard. Hugh A. Drum was a distinguished soldier-scion of an old Army line—but he will be chiefly remembered by New Yorkers for his warmth of heart and breadth of friendship.

WASHINGTON CLUB

Alumni in the Washington, D. C. area are planning to listen to the Holy Cross game at the Congressional Hotel on December 1. The president of the Club, Donald V. Mulcahy, '40, has appointed John J. Mitchell, '37, chairman of the attraction.

The Club had its annual smoker on October 17. The speaker was Congressman Daniel J. Flood, Pennsylvania, a member of the State Department Appropriations Committee.

MILFORD NEWS

In September, a parade was held in Medway for the local coach, Edmund Charland, a H. C. graduate. Rev. Maurice Meade, also a H. C. graduate, put up the Holy Cross banner outside his Rectory window. The pastor, Rev. Ralph W. Farrell, '16, noticing the free purple publicity and lacking a B. C. banner, made one out of cardboard which was put outside his window by a parishioner.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. HARVEY, '49

Those heavy grey skies forecasting the icy blasts of winter means the close of another football season and from here in, all activities on the sports calendar call for some steam heated gymnasiums and arenas.

Coach Al McClellan's basketball forces which are joined this year with eligible freshmen play the overture to the winter season with a night contest on December 3 at the Heights. The opposition will be provided by an Army team from Camp Edwards.

The ever spirited hockey team sparked by its master mentor, John Kelley, starts off its season with a rugged opponent in Brown University at Providence on December 6.

Both the basketball team and the hockey team are expected to provide some very good mid-winter sports entertainment. Possibly greater success is expected of the court team that has been growing over the past year or two and appears ready to blossom into a major college threat.

The case of "Snooks" Kelley's sextet may vary whereas the Eagles have lost through graduation three of the finest hockey players B. C. has ever known, in Jackie Mulhern, Franny Harrington and erstwhile Captain Lennie Ceglarski. But, Kelley's sophomores, and juniors of a year past have been maturing very well on the ice and they could readily provide some sparkling hockey savvy. Of course, B. C. is fortunate in having some exceptional freshmen talent on hand this year and, given enough time, should easily develop into potential stars themselves.

Coach McClellan has some real good veterans left over in Captain Tommy O'Toole, Tim O'Connell, Fran Duggan, John Silk and Jackie Moran. Up from last year's frosh five come a few boys capable of stepping into regular varsity posts. Lanky Tony Daukas and the clever John Whelpley are two who definitely are slated for regular service. Also, sophomore John O'Hara, while lacking the conventional height for this sport, is an amazing outside shooter and will surely get an opportunity to prove himself in spots.

The hoopsters will be defending its first title this season whereas Coach McClellan's 1950-51 team won the first New England Invitational Tournament at Tufts last March.

Last winter's hockey team played with more heart and spirit than it did with physically capable skaters. The Kelley-coached sextet started off the season with a mild upset of Brown 4-1 at Providence. But subsequent bumps by McGill University, Harvard and Michigan hurt the Eagle record. Still, Kelley brought the team back and the victory over Colorado College, the previous year's National Champions, was the start of a seven game win streak which included wins over Northeastern, Boston University, Harvard and Dartmouth. The Harvard victory was undoubtedly the greatest since the Eagles had to overcome a five-goal deficit and still managed a 10-9 win.

The Eagles were shoo-in selections in the New England League playoffs and took the semi-final handily from Tufts 14-1. But the still physically shaken B. C. team couldn't match fully the strength of Boston University and finally lost a 4-1 decision and New England title to the Terriers.

This year's college hockey picture should certainly be interesting. The Eagles, to be sure, will be up and very near full strength. Boston University, Northeastern, Harvard, Brown and Dartmouth too, are going to be first rate teams. A great deal of action is expected at the local Boston Arena these winter nights and it is expected that the college hockey circles will be rounding out further and further as the caliber of these games is expected to draw heavily from the Bruins, professional team, which has been steadily losing its appeal.

Alumni Hall Activities

CLASS REUNIONS

In keeping with its aim to have the Hall used by the Alumni with maximum effectiveness the Association is bending every effort to promote at least two functions for each Class during the Fall to Spring season.

Members of the House Committee who have accepted the responsibility for promoting activities among the Classes are Jerry Mahoney, '21, Tel. Hub. 2-6655, for classes through 1921; Gene Donaldson, '35, Tel. De 3-0109, for the group from 1922 through 1944; and Joe Comerford, '45, Tel. Be 2-4983, from 1945 to 1951. Joe, because of his brilliant success in organizing his own class after the shattering effects of the war years, has been appointed as consultant for those classes which were similarly affected.

PRIORITY

Since the classes are the vital sinews of the Association top priority is given them in the availability of the Hall and its facilities for any type of organized activity.

Those who have already attended such affairs at the Hall have commented on how the sense of "coming home" has added much to their enjoyment of the evening. The warm, cheery and congenial atmosphere of the Lounge brings that perfect crowning touch to a Class gathering.

In contrast to past reunions, it is like meeting classmates and friends in the comfort of your own living room rather than in a cold and formal hotel lobby.

From the standpoint of Dinner Committees, the Hall offers the ideal conditions. The menus are excellent and varied with prices that equal or surpass those of outside establishments. The dining hall is large enough to accommodate any Class group with comfort and, of course, there is the bar. To arrange a dinner, merely phone Dave Lucey at Bi 4-5230 and let him know your wishes. The Alumni Office will be glad to assist in the mailing of notices and to suggest methods of insuring a good turnout of class members.

Wednesday Night

Successfully starting with a large crowd for the films of the Wake Forest game, the Wednesday Sports Nights at Alumni Hall have attracted a weekly turnout of about 200 sport-minded Alumni.

To date, the program sponsored by the Varsity Club has featured an "Alumni Report" by Coach Mike Holovak and End Coach Bill Flynn with movies of the previous week's game.

Following the football season, activities have been planned by Judge John Connelly, '30, Varsity Club President, and the committee headed by Jim Heggie, '32, to provide each Wednesday a varied and interesting one hour entertainment, featuring known speakers and sports personalities, special films and coaches of all B. C. teams.

STEAK DINNERS

To establish a club-like atmosphere for pleasant Alumni fraternizing, the Wednesday night arrangements include delicious dinners served from 6-8 P.M. Attractively priced are the sirloin steak at $2.20 and the "Club" special at $1.25.

In the main lounge, card games and the TV boxing bouts are popular as is the "Barbershop" cocktail lounge.

Briefly, every Wednesday is open house at Alumni Hall and all Alumni and their guests (including high school coaches and athletes) are welcomed and insured of an enjoyable evening.

It is also recommended that class and activity committees plan their meetings on Wednesdays to take advantage of the dining service. Committee tables can be reserved.

While more attention has been paid to date to the Classes of the College As It Was, the House Committee is extremely anxious to hear from representatives of Classes from the Graduate Schools of Law and Social Work, of B. C. Intown and the School of Nursing. The Hall is for the use of the entire Alumni.

Saturday Night

Alumni Hall is fast becoming the center of Alumni social activities and one of the reasons is the growing popularity of the weekly Saturday Night Club. Since its inception in September, approximately 200 Alumni and their guests have been on hand each Saturday to enjoy the fine dining and dancing arrangements.

That a pleasant evening awaits Alumni and their friends is attested by the enthusiasm and recommendations of the Alumni who have attended—many of whom have returned on subsequent Saturdays.

DINNER DANCING

Two reasons for the popularity of the activity are the excellent dinners and music. The chef's attractive and reasonably priced menus provide food that is "tops" and Harold Don-ehy's Orchestra insures fine dancing.

In addition, the unique "Barbershop" cocktail lounge has also gained favor as an attractive meeting place on Saturday nights.

With indications of greater numbers at the Saturday Night Club, Alumni are advised to make reservations by phoning Bi 4-5230, particularly if a large party is planned. Advance reservations will be given preference on the night of the Holy Cross game.

SPECIAL PLANS

The Holy Cross game will bring a capacity attendance and the Hall Committee is making special plans to insure an enjoyable evening. The "Barbershop" will be open immediately after the game and dinners will be served all evening in the dining hall. The main lounge will be arranged for dancing, starting at 8 o'clock. There will be a cover charge of $1.00 per couple.

Members of the Hall Committee directing the Saturday Night Club include: John J. Campbell, '45, William P. Melville, '48 BSBA, Joseph V. Comerford, '45, Jeremiah W. Mahoney, '21, John M. Dacey, '35, Edward M. Gallagher, Jr., '32, and Paul J. Markey, '29.

Father Rector Speaks To Alumni

The address of Very Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S. J., at the reception for him by the Alumni at the Copley Plaza, Boston, on November 12.

I suppose that for every man who assumes a new office there is a certain brief period of exhilaration. He receives messages of congratulations and good wishes. His picture appears in the newspapers over rather flattering articles. He is toasted at teas, feted at banquets—and suddenly he slides right off the rainbow and acquires a wholesome down-to-earth feeling. It may be a bit of a jolt to face the realization that there is much more to it than the advertisements claim.

When I landed on the solid ground we call the Heights and viewed the scene spread out before me, calmly and calculating I realized that there is much more than Gothic beauty at Boston College. Behind the medieval facade there is a terrific job to be done. To bring Boston College to its present state of development twenty rectors worked generously and devotedly. They could never have achieved the results that we see today without generosity and devotion. For most of these good men there was a struggle. There were disappointments aplenty — and a few heartbreaks. But there was always courage and foresight and hard work. That is the pattern that has been worked out over the years. And that is the challenge which every new rector must meet.

Today I am to pick up and carry on in the footsteps of these great men who have gone ahead of me. There were twenty of them. Each one made his own contribution to the solid development of the college. Each one left for succeeding rectors an example and an inspiration. It is a splendid legacy.

The task of a college president is never an easy one. His it is to foster and advance a venerable tradition, to promote and sustain high academic standards, to inspire by word and deed a faculty and a student body—yes, and an alumni association to higher flights of achievement. Boston College, her faculty, her students and her alumni must ever be ready to stand for examination in a very critical glare and they must look with calm assurance at the confused world about them. At first blush this may be a disturbing thought, and yet it is one at which we need not stumble. For there is behind us a long history, and on its every page is inscribed the word success, honest striving, generous self-sacrifice.

The annals of success are full of stories of great men who have suffered hardships for learnings sake: stories of boys in 13th century Paris giving up their jeweled daggers and fur-lined capes to own a few pages of Lombard's Sentences; stories of Abraham Lincoln trudging for miles through the snow to borrow a dog-eared history, so that he could throw himself full length on the floor and read all night by the fire-light; stories that touch us only less than the stories of Martyrs and Confessors who spent themselves for God and God's children. They touch us because the love of learning in the realm of ideals is second only to the two great loves that Our Lord once mentioned to the lawyer who tempted Him.

Boston College in her eighty-eight years of striving has been no less sincere, no less persistent than those scholars of age. Throughout all her yesterdays she has been fighting the old fight and she is fighting it today. It is on a new front, if you will, but it is the same struggle for human souls to the greater glory of God, and she is fighting, as always, with sacrifice. For she realizes that there is nothing of any worth which does not demand sacrifice. And through her striving and her sacrifice she has built a splendid college.

Strangers who visit our campus are struck by the architectural design of our buildings and the beauty of our grounds. To these strangers, these are Boston College, but to us who know and love this institution there is a greater, a more vital element that has endeared you to your alma mater. For after all a group of buildings does not make a college. It is rather the students, the faculty and the alumni who are the college. It is the faculty who are teaching and fostering our traditions and our ideals, it is the students who are absorbing these traditions and ideals, it is the alumni who have learned and who are living these traditions and ideals. They are Boston College. For a college is a culture ground in which ideas and ideals are born, developed and matured. It is a collection of human beings with minds and wills, bodies and souls. They are the vital element of a college, and ideas are the vitalizing forces of their lives.

Ideas, as we know, are of their nature dynamic. They cannot be cribbed, cabined or confined. They are the stock in trade of every educated man—the things by which we live and by which we help others to live.

I once heard a college president address his alumni with an exhortation to lead truly Catholic lives according to the ideals of their college. I should like to amend that statement and exhort you gentlemen to live truly influential Catholic lives. That may sound quite simple, and yet in the final analysis it is a very large order. It means that in a bewildered world that is torn apart by conflicting ideologies and hate you must consciously take your places as leaders of thought. The world to a very great extent is irreligious; it cannot read its own soul, and when it seeks for the solace and support that only religion can give, it thinks to find it in some sweetly emotional experience that is so often substituted for religion. Men and women are deceiving themselves at every turn, and at every turn they are meeting with frustration. Having denied God they have ended in rejecting man, denying as they do the spirituality and immortality of the soul. Having repudiated the Fatherhood and the leadership of God, they would grasp at any sham leadership provided it suggests escape. Men are not thinking in their hearts, and the world they have builded is a world of chaos. "Unless the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it." In this world of bewilderment and confusion you are asked to lead your lives as influential Catholics, as honest men with ideas and ideals, as men whose lives will so shine before other men that they will glorify Your Father Who is in heaven. It is not a question of mass influence. Even Christ in His public life did not convert whole nations. It is rather a question of influencing the individuals with whom you come in daily contact. How? First by the force of your example; secondly by the force of your ideas, call it, if you will, your practical philosophy of life. A life that is void of influence is a life lived in a vacuum. You have the answers to many perplexing questions. In a world that is heavy with pessimism you have a philosophy that engenders a very hopeful outlook. You have a philosophy that teaches man that, though he may be in a bad way because of original sin, his case is far from hopeless. It teaches man that he can make use of his intelligence, to take thought of his condition, and to repair his condition under the Providence of a loving God. It teaches man that he has a will that is not bound over to evil, that he can breast the swift current of his animal instincts and repress his passions, and he knows, too, that he may have the immense assistance of God in all of this merely for the asking.

This philosophy assures man that he can know what life is all about and that he can do something about it. It renders man hopeful of making something of himself, and from this hope of making something of himself arises the hopefulness of making something worthwhile of human nature. Remember that the mind of the individual can be and often is the mind of the community. you have, all of you the equipment for breath-taking thought. You need but the effort to use it well for God and for country.

You are, as I have said, a vital part of your college, for as alumni you are living her traditions and her ideals. Your college will be a force in the country only in so far as you are spreading her influence in your own individual circle of friends, acquaintances, fellow workers. Not by bread alone does man live. We live by ideas and ideals, and with these. to God's greater glory, we must help others to a better and a fuller life.

The Class was well represented at the testimonial dinner to Father Rector by the following: Jim Brennan, Fred Doyle, Tom Finnegan, Jack Kapples, John Keohane, Bill O'Sullivan, Dr. Tom Reid, Ed Sullivan and Dan Young. The clergy representatives were: Bishop MacKenzie, class president Monsignor Bob Barry, and Fathers Bill Desmond, Fred Deasy, Tom Devlin, Tom Ford and Tom Heagney.

A recent football program recalls that the adoption of the Eagle as the mascot of our athletic teams was inspired by Father Ed McLaughlin (1914), pastor of St. Paul's Church, Hamilton. When the 1920 B. It's natural habitat is lofty heights. Surely the Heights are ideal for such a mascot." The idea took root with the result we now know.

It was with deep regret that we learned of the death of our Jim Manning on July 21, 1951. Many of us were absent from the city at the time. all of us will remember loyal and lovable "Jim" in our prayers.

Rev. John "Dinnie" Lyons is now pastor of St. Denis' Church, Islington. He has just finished construction of a beautiful church.

Very Rev. Joseph A. Robinson has been appointed pastor of St. Mary's, Brookline, and Rev. Leo N. O'Day pastor of St. Stephen's, Boston.

The Class extends sympathy to William J. Kirby on the death of his brother Rev. John J. Kirby.

Basil Kelley's teaching and administrative abilities carry over to Sundays when he presides over the Christian Doctrine classes at St. Theresa's, West Roxbury. What's the doctrine on Grace and Free Will, Basil?

History repeated itself, as usual. Ann Hanley and Joanne Roland are classmates at Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart, New York City. Jim is as quietly effective in running the Providence Public Schools as he was in Junior and Senior when as class beadle he made absolutely certain that our parents received full value for tuitions paid.

Call to 1919—"Grandfather contest!" How many times are you a grandfather? Please send score to writer, omit hopeful boasting. Results published in next issue.

If you are not a grandfather, write and tell us what you are.

The sympathy of the class is extended to the family of John Kennedy who died suddenly last month. He was an executive in the export department of RKO pictures in New York City, and served as secretary to Joseph Kennedy when Kennedy was Ambassador to England.

A former classmate, William A. Reardon, is chief supervisor of special services, education and public relations, state registry of motor vehicles.

Charles McGill and his wife were guests of Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut at a luncheon in Washington in honor of Eddie Roddan who has been appointed Ambassador to Uruguay.

Phil Shea is the Equipment and Promotion Engineer in the N. Y. 'Phone Co.

Barney Fox is in the collector's office of the Internal Revenue in Maryland.

Edmund Higgins worked hard as chairman of the annual class reunion which will have passed into history before these notes appear in print.

Tom Scanlan's sons, Tom and William, are students in the College of Business Administration.

Rev. John J. McGinley is at St. Mary's Rectory, Wrentham.

1921

GORDON F. IRONS

9 Emmonsdale Rd., W. Roxbury 32

Jerry Mahoney heard from Joe Doyle recently. Joe is in business in Ohio. His son graduated from B. C. last June; his son-in-law is a lieutenant in the Army and is stationed in Austria.

Jerry also reports having had a pleasant chat with Tom Salmon recently. Tom is in the best of health.

The Class of 1921 had two tables at the reception to Father Maxwell. Frank Irons, who graduated from B. C. last June and is now working for the government in Arlington, Virginia, called on Jim Rooney, who has lived in Arlington for many years. Jim is working for the Federal Trade Commission.

Lawrence Grogan has had a government position in Washington for many years. He became a benedict about a year ago.

Mark Russo's son Richard was also a member of the 1951 graduating class at the Heights. Richard is now studying for his master's degree at B. C.

The members of the Class were very much saddened at the death of one of its most popular members, Father John J. Kirby of St. Mary's Church, Charlestown. We shall not forget him in our prayers.

Dr. Irving Gregory's son is a C. B. A. senior.

Rev. Edmund J. Hayes has a new address at the Church of the Epiphany in South Miami, Florida. Chaplain Commander David H. McDonald, USN, is stationed at the U. S. Naval Base, Norfolk, Va.

The new president of Fairfield University, Fairfield, Conn., is our former classmate, Very Rev. Joseph D. FitzGerald.

NATHANIEL J. HASENFUS

15 Kirk St., West Roxbury 32

Our family expresses herewith its sincere appreciation to the many members of the College and High School faculties who visited our home and attended the funeral masses and funeral services for our sister, Mrs. Mabel Creedon, and our mother, Mrs. Louise Hasenfus, both of whom passed away in October.

James Caffrey, Jr., is a member of the football squad at Northeastern. The mother of our beloved lamented, John Francis Carey, passed away suddenly last month.

Seen at the Alumni Center at the Wednesday evening program are Paul Duffly and Joseph Beaver.

The Hayes Oil Products Co., is still in the business. Classmates, please notice.

One of George Kearns' boys is overseas in Germany.

Rev. William A. Long is one of our brand new pastors. Father Long is at Hanover.

Another pastor is Rev. Joseph Meredith at Kingston. Classmates will be happy to learn that Rev. Charles Eberle, S. J., is on a few months leave from Jamaica.

We announce with sadness the passing of James A. Ryan, since 1922 a member of the faculty of Aquinas Academy in Rochester. R.I.P.

Lawrence Curtin was the principal speaker at the annual Communion breakfast of the Archbishop Williams Assembly, Fourth Degree K. of C. in Holyoke, October 21.

Last time we told you Jack McKearin had moved to Kansas City. The correct address is 1217 South Laclede Boulevard, Webster Groves, St. Louis, Missouri. He is Assistant Sales Manager of the Laclede Gas Company.

9 McKone Street, Dorchester 22

Our class was well represented at the reception given by the Alumni to our new Rector, Father Maxwell, S.J. at the Copley Plaza on Monday, November 12. Most of the members sat at the 1923 table, but some were at other places in the large banquet hall. Those in attendance were Father Patrick H. Collins S. J., Cecil McGoldrick, Ed Garrity, George Olesen, John Flavin, Walter Mayo, Joe Crane, Frank Hickey, and George Gormley. Your president was there too, and he may have missed you. That's a good reason for a nasty note and notes about classmates.

Our Tony Comerford, Regional Administrator Assistant for Region 5,

Civil Defense, recently put on a highly successful test of the Communication and Radiological services. These are the build-up for an all-out alert eventually in Metropolitan Boston.

If you would like to read a really fine piece of poetry, you will find it in the "Diamond Jubilee Ode" written by our classmate Myles T. McSweeney, feature writer of the Boston Daily Record. It was dedicated to the Sisters of Notre Dame in commemoration of their coming to St. Mary of the Annunciation Parish, Cambridge, Mass. 75 years ago. Myles and Scriptor were graduates of that school in 1913. At that time the late Reverend Michael J. Doody, one of the greatest of all Boston College Alumni, was pastor. That's our classmate, John (Chick) O'Donnell, treasurer of the Schoolmen of Boston, who has been putting up such a vigorous fight before the School Committee for increases in the salaries of Masters and Junior Masters in the system.

George Olesen, treasurer of the class and a member of the faculty at Cambridge High and Latin School, also conducts a successful law practice in the Harvard Square district of the University City.

Jack Heaphy is still the main pilot of Dedham High's football voyages. Through the years Jack has kept the Dedham name pretty much in the favorable headlines.

Looking into the crystal ball there's a banquet, and of course, our Laetare Sunday gathering in our future. The date of the banquet will be decided in the near future, and you will be informed of the same. It is pretty certain to be held at Alumni Hall which is capable of giving us everything we want.

Congratulations to Rev. Edward A. Walsh who has been appointed pastor of St. Patrick's Parish, Groveland. Rev. Leo McCabe is stationed at St. Joseph's, Malden.

Alexander Lashway has a late address at the Rockland Drive-In Theatre, Rockland, Maine.

WANT AD: Wanted—News that will arrest the attention of any graduate of the Class of Boston College, 1923. Classmates preferred.

Rev. Earl T. Lyons has been assigned to St. Andrew's, Forest Hills.

EDWARD J. O'LEARY

22 Bailey Road, Arlington 74.

It is with genuine pleasure that we read recently of the new post to which Dr. George Donovan has been appointed. George, former president of the Webster College in Missouri, is the new advisor in education and cultural relations for the State Department in Germany. This position is a promotion — the functions of which will cover not only the United States zone but also the British and French zones and Berlin. One of the outstanding contributions of Dr. Donovans work in Germany, according to Commissioner McCloy, has been his leadership in organizing with Germans conferences on human rights. George has also represented the High Commissioner in international meetings on human rights and cultural cooperation in Luxemburg, Rheims, Paris and Dublin.

Commander J. F. Gearan — Father Jerry to you—is now located in the Chelsea Naval Hospital where he is the Catholic Chaplain. Father Jerry served on the U.S.S. Salem when she was commissioned and served aboard her until she was transferred to Chelsea this past summer.

A class meeting was held on November 20 at Alumni Hall, at which time we had the pleasure of a reunion with Father Joe Regan, M.M., recently released from the custody of Chinese Communists.

Father John J. Fitzpatrick is now stationed at St. Joseph's, Kingston.

Felicitations are extended to the parents of Fred Mahony and Gene Giroux on the recent celebration of their 59th wedding anniversary. Gene, incidentally, had the pleasure of visiting Joe Beattie on the former's business trip to Detroit recently. Joe is with the Housing Authority in Detroit. Gene Giroux, Jr., is a senior at the Heights.

The class extends sincere sympathy to Ed Spang on the loss of his brother who passed away last month.

WILLIAM J. CUNNINGHAM

40 Tennyson Street, W. Roxbury 32

The boys of 1926 wound up their Jubilee year in grand style, with Jack Dorsey, Al Keenan, Dr. Arthur Gorman and wife taking a 10 day trip to Nassau and the Bahamas, late in September.

Came across a letter of Larry Killilea's sent to Johnnie Dooley earlier and forwarded to me for notes. Larry, after graduation spent a few years between Boston and Hartford, Conn. After being in New York for ten years, he left for Chicago in 1942 and is still there where he is associated with Hercules Powder Co., as branch officer manager for the Naval Stores Dept. Larry, the old Hyde Park high jumper and pole vaulter is a grand-dad. His children are Mora, 22, Patricia, 19, and Kevin, 6.

Heard Rev. Jeremiah Foley being interviewed on the radio recently.

John Cehan who has been president of the Roslindale Board of Trade for two years, was recently presented with a cup for his outstanding leadership, in connection with the Board's 25th Anniversary celebration.

Dr. Harry Campbell has been appointed physician for the Medford High School football team.

Captain Thomas C. Herlihy sends in a new address at Ferry Farms, R. F. D., Annapolis, Maryland.

Rev. Philip D. Kelly, S. J., pastor of Holy Cross parish in Kingston, Jamaica, B.W.I., is home on vacation visiting his relatives in Lynn.

Rev. John Burris is chaplain at Our Lady of Nazareth Academy, Wakefield.

Frank Russell is president of RCS Tool Sales Corporation of Joliet, Illinois and vice-president of RCS Engineering Corporation. RCS has nationwide and foreign distribution and their products are advertised in eighteen national magazines. He is married to the former Katherine A. Devlin of Roslindale, and they have three children, Edward F. Russell, II, 7, Maureen, 4, Kevin, 3. The family home is at 810 Western Avenue, Joliet, Illinois.

You men of 1926 who haven't utilized Alumni Hall yet are missing something. Excellent food, reasonable prices, and the Wednesday evening football shows are unusually interesting, for football pecans. Some of the boys and their wives are planning on the Hall for dinner and fun after the Cross game.

FRANCIS X. SULLIVAN

51 Presentation Road, Brighton 35,

Plans for the 25th Anniversary are now taking shape. Festivities will begin on December 27 at the new Alumni Hall when the class will meet for its annual holiday reunion. Let's top the figure 81—the number that showed up for the 20th Anniversary. F. Darcy Barrett is now residing in San Francisco, California, at 60 Lanesome Street.

The condolences and prayers of the class go to Tom Coughlan on the death of his mother.

Howard Buckley is busy again with his general contracting business in West Roxbury at 450 Belgrade Avenue.

Jack Buckley keeps in trim by working out with the boys of Hyde Park High where he is assistant coach.

His duties as the new chairman of the English Council for the Boston Public Schools keeps Jack Desmond extra busy because he was already busy when he undertook the assignment.

Bill Fitzgerald, Ph.D., has left St. Louis for a library assignment in South Nashville, Tennessee. Bill won't find it hard becoming a Southern gentleman.

Pastor of St. Ann's Church, Wollaston is the new assignment of Monsignor Walter Leach. He is still moving forward and upward.

Tom O'Keefe is principal of Brockton High Night School.

Now situated at Falls Church, Virginia, Joe O'Brien apparently has forsaken Boston for good. He is personnel director of the National Aeronautics Board.

Comdr. Dan McIsaac is currently stationed at the Naval Air Station in St. Louis.

The Junior Red Feather Speaking Contest in Greater Boston was directed by Tom Heffernan.

Ed Sweeney blew in and out of town in a hurry. He is still with the F.B.I. working out of New York City.

John Foley, M.D., is attached to the Lakeville Sanatorium, Middleboro.

Deep in the heart of Texas is where you will find Jack Drummond still working with the Silas Mason Construction Co. Box 1086 is the address in Amarillo.

John Polan's son is a Freshman in the College of Business Administration.

Rev. Richard McHale is stationed at St. Joseph's, Quincy, and Rev. Robert C. Hilton at the Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge.

Don't forget your age. It is '27 on the 27th of December at the new Alumni Center—the first gun in a booming 25th Anniversary celebration. We have waited 25 years. This is IT.

1928

JOHN F. DWYER

45 Belvoir Road, Milton 86

We wish to thank the many who responded so generously to our recent appeal for help for our classmate Fr. Neil Donahue, S. J., who is engaged in rebuilding St. Ann's Shrine in Jamaica, B.W.I., after devastating hurricane damage. We remind those who may not have received our notice that it is not too late to forward a contribution to David E. Hockman, Reservoir Street, Cambridge, Mass.

Congratulations to John Hurley for an outstanding job as chairman of the Reception to Very Rev. Joseph R. N. Maxwell, S.J., the new president of the College. Our class was well represented at the highly successful dinner at the Copley Plaza on November 12.

Irving Stackpole was one of the two nominees selected in the primary election for the office of Mayor of Somerville.

The sincere sympathy of all class members is extended to Roger O'Sullivan whose mother passed away in September and to William Beal whose father passed away in October. Seen recently at the Alumni Centre Saturday Night open house were the George Spillanes, the Thomas Kellys and the John Grandfields. Good food and music make for an enjoyable evening any Saturday for alumni and guests.

Congratulations are in order for Dave Hockman upon his recent appointment as headmaster of the Morse School in Cambridge. We wish Dave every success in his new position.

The John Grandfields recently returned from an autumn vacation at Penacook, New Hampshire.

Congratulations to the John J. Kelleys of Watertown upon the recent arrival of their eighth child and fourth son. "Joe" recently made the headlines when his transfer in the Watertown school system instigated an unsolicited student sympathy strike.

Congratulations to the James Langans upon their recent blessed event, third child and daughter.
